ABOUT THE ZIRO FESTIVAL

MUSIC. CULTURE. NATURE. COMMUNITY.

Ziro Festival, founded in 2012, celebrates passion, sustainability, community, and cultural diversity. The festival promotes indigenous tribes and artists from Northeast India while showcasing Indian and global independent music scene.

ABOUT THE FESTIVAL:

The festival is not just an auditory delight but a visual and cultural feast.

It serves as a platform to showcase the rich heritage of Northeast India, highlighting indigenous tribes and artists.

The musical lineup transcends borders, featuring both Indian and global independent talents.

What sets the Ziro Festival apart is its unwavering commitment to sustainability.

The festival goes beyond the ordinary by utilizing locally-sourced materials, prominently bamboo, to construct its infrastructure.

SUSTAINABILITY & COMMUNITY

Local community members are actively involved in hosting attendees, fostering a sense of community and ensuring a unique and authentic experience for festival-goers.

The festival has initiated skills training programs that empower community members, enabling them to play a crucial role in producing the event.

This includes employing local artisans to craft the bamboo infrastructure, promoting local craftsmanship, and creating a sustainable ecosystem within the festival.

Community outreach programs are integral to the Ziro Festival.
